

Film Manufacturer Data Sheet

MADICO

MADICO

64 Industrial Parkway
Woburn, MA 01888

Simplifying Safety and Energy Solutions

Madico develops products that protect people and the planet. All aspects of our business have been optimized to not only achieve this goal, but also do so in an environmentally responsible manner. Our strategy to co-locate engineering and manufacturing within our corporate headquarters allows us to ensure the highest quality products and the most sustainable practices.

Madico consists of three solutions-focused groups, including safety and security, energy and future products. Each diversely staffed group shares expertise and resources with the others, ensuring we continue to innovate even within existing product lines.

Business Units

Window Films: Whether a commercial architect, a homeowner, or an automobile enthusiast, Madico has a product that will greatly improve the glass that surrounds you. Trusted by the Smithsonian, the Louvre, and many other architectural landmarks, Madico has been improving windows with films for over 30 years. Installing Madico window films is a great way to save energy, reduce CO2 emissions and help curb rising energy costs. Madico films can block up to 80% of the sun's heat—not only saving money, but making you more comfortable as well. In addition, Madico films block almost 100% of harmful UV rays that can fade furnishings, flooring, artwork and merchandise. On commercial applications they may also help you attain LEED credits, getting your building closer to certification.

- Architectural
- Safety & Security
- Automotive
- Advanced Ceramics

Specialty Films: Madico's Specialty Films Division produces three solutions that meet critical needs in the areas of renewable energy, energy conservation, human safety, and asset security. Typically film laminates with specialized coatings, these solutions achieve high value performance in the areas of weatherability, durability, longevity and solar energy management. While applications may vary greatly, products developed by the Specialty Films Division are derived from Madico's 100-year history in invention, innovation and imagination. The company's leadership, culture and infrastructure allowed it to receive dozens of patents and trademarks, as well as boast countless industry "firsts."

- AMO
- Photovoltaic
- OEM